

Excerpt taken from “Maryland Its Past and Present” by Richard Wilson and Jack Bridner

“... Over one-half of all the settlers who came to Maryland before 1700 were indentured servants. Most of these persons came to Maryland from either England or Ireland. They were young – often thirteen or fourteen years old. They wanted to come to Maryland for a better life.” (page 57, 1999 edition)